He is a successful business man and has long maintained a deep interest in state affairs."

Surely the affairs of the State and the Republican Party would be in able hands if he was made chief executive, but we doubt if he has any ambition in that direction. He is a successful shoe manufacturer and wants to continue in that line.

Interesting Letter From "Somewhere In England."

Oct. 11, 1917.

My dear dad, mumsie, sister and brother:

You have probably received a letter saying that I had arrived safely abroad. I will explain to you about that letter. We were advised to write letters like that the day we left New York and they would be held there until were across and there be mailed, that way you would hear from us about two weeks earlier than you would if we waited until we were across

I am well and hope my dear folks are the same.

Now I will tell you about our trip. some of it may be censored, but you can get some idea. We left Westfield Sept 26 at 3:00 p. m., arrived in New York at 1:30 a. m., Sept. 27, but did not leave the train until 4:30, then we left the train and boarded a small steamer on the Harlem River, went down to the White Star Line Docks and went on board the ship that brought us across, at 10 o'clock and that afternoon at 3 we started on our trip across. We got away very quiet, not fifty persons saw us as we left the train in New York and when we left the harbor every man was below, so no one knew that a big freighter was carrying human freight.

We stopped in————for five hours to wait for some more troops to come up with us. The first three days out we had dandy weather, but after that it was rainy most of the time.

Last Monday night I was on guard and the wind blew so hard that one could hardly walk across the deck without hanging onto something and the waves would break right over the deck. That storm began Saturday and lasted until Monday night or rather Tuesday morning about three o'clock it began to clear off, but I guess the storm helped us as we have heard since we landed that the Germans knew we were coming and that nine submarines were waiting for us, but that night in the storm we slipped by them. We reached an English port Tuesday, Oct. 9, at 7 p. m., and it sure seemed good to see land again.

The first night on the boat I was ready to go to bed down with the company when Brackett came down and said the sergeants are going to have better quarters than this and he took me up on the next deck and showed me the state room I was to have. Now believe me, I was some surprised when I saw it, sheets, pillows and white blankets and a spring bed for a soldier, clean towels every morning and a bath room for our own use.

The food for the first two days was good, but after that it was awful and not much of it. There were English cooks and I don't like their way of cooking. Gee, what would I give to sit down at home and have a good feed.

We left the boat Wednesday morning at 8 a. m. and got on a train. The trains are not a bit like ours, small engines and the cars are divided into compartments, there is room for ten persons in a compartment and five to a car. Each one is entered from the side. We left the docks at ten o'clock and reached this camp at eight o'clock and I did not get the blankets for the men until 12 o'clock that night and we did not have supper until 10 o'clock. This is a very large camp and all kinds of troops here.

We are living under canvas here, but all of the British are in dandy barracks, but this is only a depot camp for Americans and we will probably leave in a few days. We have not any good place to cook at all so we only get two meals a day, eat at nine in the morning and four in the afternoon, and Yankees are not used to that. Gee! but I get hungry by the time we eat in the morning.

This is the most beautiful country I ever saw. I do not like it as well as good old U. S., but it is pretty just the same. Everywhere on our way here we saw cattle and sheep and the horses are dandy and very large. They were all in fields grazing. The fields are surrounded by hedges all neatly trimmed. In towns the houses are nearly all alike and built most[illegible]ly of brick. The streets are clean and very pretty. But England must have an awful army in the field as you see no young men around the towns and every where women are doing manual labor, even shoveling coal. The men in the British army are older than in the U. S. Army.

When we were in ——— we saw a ship load of wounded Canadians returning from France, we were so close to them we could talk back and forth. They wanted to hear some American songs so a bunch lined up on deck and sung, but the songs that pleased them most was "Send Me Away With a Smile" and "America Here is My Boy."

I have felt fine ever since we left Westfield, not sea sick at all, although some were very sick for a few days, and you will probably remember John Meserve, the oldish man that was in my squad when I was in Augusta, he was taken with pneumonia the fourth day out. He is in Liverpool and is very sick. There are four or five others there in the hospital that were taken with measles on the way over.

It would be useless to tell you how many U. S. soldiers there are over here as it would only be censored, but you would be awfully surprised to know how many "Sammies" are getting ready to go after old "Kaiser Bill" and believe me we are going to get him. The English think that the Christmas Bells will be Bells of Peace to the world.

Well, dear folks, I have written an awful mess but it will be quite a while between letters so I thought I would write a long one. Do not worry about me at all we are jut as safe as though we were at home. Be careful all of you, and write as often as you can. How I would like to see my dear folks today. I hope you will all be well.

What is dad going to do this winter? Tell me all the news when you write, give my regards to all the people I know and to Mr. and Mrs. Mundy.

Well, I guess I will close for this time with lots of love,

Your loving son and brother,
Sgt. W. S. Bennett.

PLENTY OF PROOF

From People You Know—From Norway Citizens

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Norway, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

E. C. Libby, deputy sheriff, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had backache a great deal and it was hard to do anything. Not only that but my head ached very often. I noticed little specks before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used various medicines, but it was left for Doan's Kidney Pills to give me lasting results. Since using them, I have had no return of the complaint so I naturally have great confidence in Doan's.

PICK UPS ON WHEELS

Recently I got an invitation to call on Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Libby at their home farm on Knight Hill in Sweden. Of course I accepted and Walter headed the iron chariot that way and included in the party Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Leavitt and Mother.

The route lay through East Waterford, passing the Dago battle ground which is now occupied by the shops of the McWain Packing Co. They were being operated even though it was Sunday. The urgency of the conservation of food-stuffs was made the excuse for working on the Lord's Day.

"Peterville" was passed as was Bridgton and Moose Pond bridge and you take the first two right hand turns and come to the Andrew Libby farm at the height of land. Here are 150 acres of wood, timber and tillage land which has had little cultivation for the past 18 years. The house and barn are in good repair, but most of the fields are used for pasturage.

Woodman Charles lives on the adjoining farm, which years ago belonged to Earle Douglass, who with the Libbys, located a union family burying ground divided by "the line fence" in a nearby field. It is enclosed with a substantial split-stone and iron railing with iron gates. The south half is on the Libby farm and the other half on the Douglass farm, hence it can be properly called a Union Burying Ground.

I copied the names on the headstones and on the Libby side are as follows:

Andrew Libby, died Feb 16, 1882, aged 86 years.
Betsey, his wife, died March 2, 1859, aged 64 years and 11 months.
Andrew Libby, Jr., died March 8, 1902, aged 71 years.
Christane, his wife, died Oct. 28, 1862, aged 23 years.
Caroline D., his second wife, died Feb. 9, 1917, aged 67 years, 8 months and 7 days.
Percy, son of Chas. S. and Gertrude W. Libby, died Oct. 29, 1887, aged 5 days.
Ara, wife of Dole Pillsbury, died August 24, 1890, aged 88 years and 2 months.
Aaron Libby, (brother to Andrew) died Dec. 22, 1902, aged 65 years.
Ellsworth L. Libby, (son of Aaron) died March 10, 1891, aged 25 years.
Mary E., daughter of Aaron and Locetta Libby, died July 17, 1875, aged 12 years, 6 months and 17 days.

The road from here to Lovell village is down hill and some sandy in places.

The Gammage burying ground with its big monument is neglected and grown to bushes.

Much of the pine along the road has been cut and marketed and the money that didn't find its way into N. T. Fox's pocket is now in savings banks drawing a safe rate of interest.

Number Four, Center and North Lovell was passed. I recalled a promise to visit the Garcelons, but it was too late and I'm sure the invitation will keep over to some other time. Stoneham, where you are told to look out for the children, was put in the background, home was reached by nightfall.

Later—I was not to let the Garcelon invitation out-law, so called there Oct. 21st in company with J. C. True and wife of Norway and Frank T. True and wife of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Bert Garcelon and friends were seen and Charles Garcelon and wife, their father and mother were on an auto trip in Western Massachusetts and New York. They had been absent some ten days. I was promised credit for "a call" even though the head of the family was not seen.

Daisy Baker's Mother Says

Cut Your Bread Cost by Baking at Home

Bread is so cheap and wholesome that it is the best kind of economy to eat lots of it. Cut the high cost of living by eating more bread and cut it still more by baking in your own home.

You can make your own bread for less than 3 cents a loaf—and that includes every expense, materials, fuel and time. It means practically two loaves for the price of one—twice as much for same cost—or the same quantity of food at one-half the cost.

—and, besides saving money, you'll have better bread.

With the right flour, home-baking is easy. My choice is William Tell, and I use it for everything. It's made in Ohio—right in the Miami Valley, where the rich limestone soil gives it a delicious flavor and wonderful baking qualities. It takes the ache out of bake and puts the flavor in.

Use WILLIAM TELL Flour

It is guaranteed under the Ohio Better Flour Label, by the Ansted & Burk Company who make it, and by the grocer who sells it. It comes to you with a triple guarantee.

Conservation of Heat

How to Save One-Third of Your Fuel

Install in connection with your coal heater, a Jewell Heat Controller. This consists of two parts, a Thermostat with time clock attachment, which is placed on the wall of one of the rooms, and a Motor, which operates the valves or dampers of the heater and is placed at a convenient place in the cellar.

What It Will Do

You merely have to set the dial on the face of the Thermostat at the degree of temperature you wish to maintain in your rooms and the Controller keeps them heated within one degree of the mark set. With an even burning fire, much coal is saved and danger of overheating is avoided. The controller operates the dampers as well as could be done by a person staying all the time by the heater. As it will also open or close the dampers at any desired time, it makes it possible to have cool rooms at night and warm ones in the morning. It also enables you to keep a low temperature for several hours during the day if you are to be away and yet have warm rooms when you return. This means a large saving of coal and absolute protection against fire danger from overheating.

These Controllers are made in many styles and prices, from ten to fifty dollars. Sold and installed by Impossibilities have ceased, improbabilities have become daily realities. In every realm of thought and action things are happening, things but yesterday undreamed of. Nothing stands still, and we are following, willy-nilly.

THE HEART OF HOME

Oh, Home is a wonderful thing!
In all the world so wide
There's never a place
With half the grace
Of the spot where our own abide!
And always we see it clear,
Wherever we may roam,
For Home is the Heart
Of the world's great mart—
And Love is the Heart of Home!
Oh, hard may the struggle be,
Against the wind and tide;
The waves may dash,
And the thunders crash,
As the world's rough sea we ride;
But ever we gain toward shore,
Where a light shines over the foam,
And Love's own strength
Shall win at length,
For Love is the Heart of Home!

Minnie Leona Upton.

THE GIFT

Minnie Leona Upton

My Country, I give him to you—my boy
With the strong, clean, beautiful heart,
And the strong, clean, beautiful body, the joy
Of my eyes, and more fair than art.
He is eager of soul to offer all,
He has made nor quibble nor pause;
Do with him as your need may call,
If so it will help the Cause!
Send him back, when the need is o'er,
Wounded, disfigured, maimed,
Or with eyes that shall see me nevermore,
And you shall not be blamed;
Or if he shall die, one some great, brave day,
As men have died before,
I will smile, as a patriot mother may,
Though he come to me no more.
But listen, my Country, listen and mark,
If you send him back to me
With his strong, clean, beautiful heart all dark
With visions I may not see;
With his strong, clean, beautiful body vile
As if from a pit of Hell,
I will curse you, curse you, my Country, while
I live—oh, mark me well!

WHY THE LEAVES CHANGE THEIR COLOR

It requires no vivid imagination to picture Mother Nature going about these days with a liberal supply of paint with which she colors the leaves of the trees and other plants and thereby produces the vivid tints which characterize the foliage of this season. In reality the change in coloring is the result of certain chemical process which takes place in the leaves.

The change is not, as many people suppose, due to the action of frost, but is a preparation for winter. All during the spring and summer the leaves have served as factories, where the foods necessary for the trees' growth have been manufactured. This food making takes place in numberless tiny cells of the leaf and is carried on by small green bodies which give the leaf its color. These chlorophyll bodies, as they are known, make the food of the tree by combining carbon taken from the carbonio acid gas of the air with hydrogen, oxygen, and various minerals supplied by the water which the roots gather. In the fall when the cool weather causes a slowing down of the vital processes, the work of the leaves comes to an end. The machinery of the leaf factory is dismantled, so to speak, the chlorophyll is broken up into the various substances of which it is composed, and whatever food there is on hand is sent to the body of the tree to be stored up for use in the spring. All that remains in the cell cavities of the leaf is a watery substance in which a few oil globules and crystals, and a small number of yellow, strongly refractive bodies can be seen. These give the leaves the yellow colorings so familiar in autumnal foliage.

It often happens, however, that there is more sugar in the leaf than can be readily transferred back to the tree. When this is the case the chemical combination with the other substances produces many-colored tints varying from the brilliant red of the dogwood to the more austere red-browns of the oak. In coniferous trees, which do not lose their foliage in the fall, the green coloring matter takes on a slightly brownish tinge, which, however, gives way to the lighter color in the spring.

While the color of the leaf is changing, other preparations are being made. At the point where the stem of the leaf is attached to the tree, a special layer of cells develops which gradually sever the tissues which support the leaf. At the same time Nature heals the cut, so that when the leaf is finally blown off by the wind or falls from its own weight, the place where it grew on the twig is marked by a scar.

Although the food which has been prepared in the cell cavities is sent back to the tree, the mineral substances with which the walls of the cells have become impregnated during the summer months are retained. Accordingly when the leaves fall they contain relatively large amounts of valuable elements, such as nitrogen and phosphorus which were originally a part of the soil. The decomposition of the leaves results in enriching the top layers of the soil by returning these elements and by the accumulation of humus. That is why the mellow black earth from the forest is so fertile. But if fires were allowed to run through the forest and the leaves are burned, the most valuable of the fertilizing elements are changed by the heat into gases and escape into the air. As a result, forests which are burned over regularly soon lose their soil fertility even if no apparent damage is done to the standing timber.

A HUNDRED YEARS

I knew a man of honest mien
Who never thought of keeping clean,
And never took a bath, 'twas said,
While ninety years rolled o'er his head.

He always boasted of his strength,
His life was of unusual length.
He'd handle dumb bells like a toy,
And run and tumble like a boy.

Bathing to him was a false alarm,
The muscles stood out on his arms.
He'd scale a fence like any deer
And make a lion shake with fear.

He had neither aches nor pain,
Each day to him was just the same.
He'd laugh and call it puny dope
To go and put yourself to soak.

When he'd laugh his side would shake;
His head was never known to ache.
He tried, but never could recall
The day when he'd been sick at all.

I'm feeling nimble as a calf,
The doctors they advise mud bath.
If you would feel spry and alert
Just keep a digging in the dirt.

If you would drive away disease,
Just roll in dirt up to your knees.
Just laugh and drive away your fears
And you will live a hundred years.

Frederick Marshall Davis.

HE HAS IRON IN HIS BLOOD

That is why he is such a great winner, accomplishes so much, why he overcomes obstacles and knows no such thing as failure.

Iron in the successful formula for Peptiron, which also includes pepsin, nux, celery and other tonics, sedatives and digestives, helps to give strength, color and body to the blood; reddens pale cheeks, steadies the nerves, nourishes and gives stamina to the whole body.

Peptiron is in pill form, chocolate coated, pleasant to take, easily assimilated—the most successful combination of iron that its makers, C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass., know of.

It is the medicine for you.

It will put iron into your blood.

John Howard Crockett

John Howard Crockett died at his home in Hallowell, Oct. 22, from valvular heart trouble, following an illness of several months. His age was 61 yrs., 1 month, 12 days.

The deceased was born in Oxford Sept. 12, 1856, the son of the late Benjamin and Elvira Frances Crockett. He was educated in the Oxford schools and farmed extensively. On October 15, 1875 he married Abbie Estell Swift of Oxford and lived several years on the Witham farm before moving to Norway village, where he was employed as shoe cutter in the B. F. Spinney factory for a long period.

Some time since he moved his family to Portsmouth, N. H., later to Derry, N. H. where he continued at his trade, he also worked a short time in Haverhill, Mass., the latter part of his life being pent at the home of his son, Howard, in Hallowell.

Mr. Crockett was a valued member of the Derry Baptist church, a Past Grand in the Norway Lodge of Odd Fellows and a member of the Wildly Encampment, Norway, and interested in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the places in which he lived. Politically he was a democrat.

He is survived by the widow and three sons, Howard, in charge of a large farm in Hallowell; Ballard of Haverhill, Mass., now serving in the U. S. Army; Earl R., a shoe maker in Haverhill, Mass., and three grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Josiah L. Witham of Oxford, and two brothers, Alfred Crockett of Rochester, N. H., and George Crockett of South Weymouth, Mass., also survive. S. L. Crockett, the well known Norway druggist now deceased, was also a brother.

Services were held on October 24th at his late home in Hallowell, conducted by the pastor of the Derry Baptist church, before a large gathering of relatives and friends. The bearers were from the Hallowell Lodge I. O. O. F., who had charge of the funeral.

The remains were brought here Oct. 25 and interred in Pine Grove cemetery.

Norway Grange held an all day meeting on October 25, it was the forty-third anniversary since its organization Oct. 24, 1874. The meeting was called to order by Worthy Master Richardson at 11 a. m. with all officers present except Chorister Eva Jackson, who on account of illness in her family, was unable to be present.

After opening exercises including the song "As we go forth to labor" in which all joined, a short business session was held and after a few preliminary remarks Worthy Master Richardson called upon Brother E. H. Libby, secretary of the Maine State Grange, who gave an informal interesting talk of a minute along lines of what is accomplished by persistent effort and unlimited faith in the work of the grange that although no one individual could only do a part. The body as a whole could and has furthered the work mapped out by the founders of the order to a remarkable degree of influence and usefulness. Readings by Worthy Lecturer Grover.

A recess was declared for dinner, which was served by the chairman of committee, Lillian Russell and willing assistants all were glad to welcome Brother and Sister Roberts of Augusta and Brother and Sister Eaton of Oxford who arrived at this time.

The afternoon session was made very interesting by the speakers of the day, viz.: Hon. J. A. Roberts, Commissioner of Agriculture, Augusta; E. H. Brother E. H. Libby, in introductory remarks joined the order forty-three years ago while living in the state of Nebraska and as a close observer and active member all these years commended the social uplift in amusement and educaton; the advancement in agriculture which as a profession is ahead of any other that success, not failures, follow faithful effort.

Brother S. H. Eaton in paying tribute to Old Oxford County, won a round of applause. His talk was inspiring and helpful. There was much to amuse and much to instruct as the addresses were full of pertinent suggestions and statements of value to the Order.

It is much regretted that a number of the members are ill. Minutes read and approved, closed in form.

Visitors were present from Oxford, Paris and West Paris granges.

Moose Benefit Ball

The second annual ball given by the Norway Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, No. 1614, in Opera House, Friday evening, Oct. 26, was a social and financial success, the proceeds going to the members now doing their bit in Co. D, 103 Me. Regiment.

Patriotic decorations were used around the balcony front and a large flag with a Moose head and the gold letters L. O. O. M. served as a back ground for the stage. Small spruces were tastefully arranged along the wings and rear of the platform, making altogether a pretty setting. Shaw's five piece orchestra of South Paris furnished music. Refreshments were served by the order at intermission.

The attendance was large, more than one hundred floor tickets were sold and nearly one hundred and fifty occupied the balcony.

Great interest centered around the vote getting contest, the result being announced at 10 o'clock. Dr. Irwin Moorhouse, Lester Ashton and Tony Young were the committee who attended to the count and awarded the prizes. Ida Merrill secured $51.55 and received the 15 jewelled Waltham watch in a 20 year gold case, Minnie Hill brought $43.50 and Bessie Klain $14.80. At the beginning of the contest only one prize was offered, but at the last moment it was decided to give a present in appreciation of their valuable work. Miss Hill and Miss Klain were each given a first quality gold bracelet by Dictator Edwin S. Gammon, who thanked the contestants, the committee and the general public for the voting contributions that netted $87.35 for the war relief fund.

Floor manager, Arthur H. Welch. Aids Edwin Sharon, Osman Hill, Herman Richardson and Dictator Edwin S. Gammon were master of ceremonies, working out a well defined program to the satisfaction of the large patronage that included visitors from Oxford, Lewiston, Waterford, Harrison and Hebron.

The Norway lodge was organized Mar. 4, 1915, and started immediately to thrive. Two hundred members are now enrolled, a strong degree team with expensive wardrobe and live officers place the Moose among the leaders in town.

Harry Rust Post No. 54, G. A. R., bought a $300 Liberty bond.

Israel Klain of Berlin, N. H., was with his family over Sunday.

Mina Jewett has returned to New York for the winter after spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. Ella Jewett.

Scott Merrill's crew are busy in his cooper shop on Pleasant street. About 5,000 apple barrels have been made with many orders ahead representing a wide territory.

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

No Relief—Mrs. Brown Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains.

A friend who is a nurse asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."—Mrs. W. C. BROWN, 2844 W. 12th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Nurse's Talk by Frances Bartlett

Frances Bartlett, who has recently returned after several months' service as a Red Cross nurse in France, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Norway Red Cross auxiliary in the grange hall Tuesday afternoon.

She entered the service last March and was assigned to an English hospital unit doing duty near the English Channel shore in France. This was a field hospital and received the wounded directly from the trenches. Five regular hospital units made up the whole base, three being English with two American. Shed like structures of wood were used for the operating rooms and clinic, but the wards were in long tents, caring for 2400 patients during the rush after intensive fighting along the French front. Coal stoves heat the buildings and tents during severe weather. Early in the spring, fuel was scarce, so the stoves were used little and imagination a great deal.

In this particular location all patients were British, either from England or her provinces. Wounded men with chances for recovery in a short time were held until strong then sent back to the front. Those whose recovery might be doubtful and the permanently disabled were sent across the channel to the base hospital in England for advanced treatment.

The civilian life of the work was fully explained as she mentioned the amusements furnished by the Y. M. C. A. and vaudeville with sketches and concerts arranged from excellent talent from their own number. Several troups composed of artists who had seen service, but discharged because being incapacitated, visited the boys frequently, leaving cheer and sunshine in their wake.

Miss Bartlett spoke in glowing terms of the almost super-human courage displayed by the boys even though tortured with agonizing pains. During the months in service she heard but one soldier curse while being attended surgically. As a rule the English boys are cheerful and gather in groups for story telling, each trying to discount the other.

Perhaps her most thrilling experience was during a night air raid when a Zeppelin dropped five bombs that destroyed thirty-six lives and wounding many patients.

A large number attended considering the rain and were fully repaid by receiving first hand information of war conditions.

Word has been received that Rev. Harry P. Seymour, formerly rector in Christ Church at Piedmont, N. Y., was killed recently by a fall somewhere in France. Six years ago while located in Portland he was in charge of Christ Church (Episcopalian) in Norway under Bishop Codman, therefore well known in this vicinity When the United States entered the war and a call made for spiritual leaders, he applied to his Bishop for a position as Episcopal Chaplin. As appointments came slowly, he entered the Y. M. C. A. work and went over seas as field secretary from New York, having been granted a year's absence from the Piedmont parish.

It is safe to say there are no "slackers" in this village. Each woman does her part with the expectation that the garment fashioned by her nimble fingers will help make some brave soldier comfortable.

CHARGE IT TO THE KAISER

Every time you pay three cents for the postage of a letter that formerly went for two, charge the difference to the Kaiser.

Every time you have a reminder that this war is costing you something, charge it to the Kaiser.

You will have many reminders. There will be increased taxes on incomes, on cigars, on gasoline, on a hundred and one different things.

But pay without grudging, without complaint. Pay cheerfully, blithely, graciously, thankfully. You will be paying that you may be free, that your children and your children's children may be free.

You will be paying that democracy shall not wither from the earth.—Financial America.

Children Like To Take It

Thousands of children have worms and their parents don't know what the trouble is.

Symptoms of worms are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Always keep Dr. True's Elixir on hand for such cases. It is promptly effective and the nice thing about it is that children like to take it.

Mrs. H. W. Roberts of 502 Asylum Street, Flint, Mich., wrote to us: "Have used the Elixir and as far as I know my little girl is cured of worms." She wrote in again later saying, "Baby is fine and I think it was your medicine that helped her."

Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, has been on the market more than 60 years and more and more people are using it all the time to expel worms, or to tone up the stomach and restore natural action of the bowels. Children like to take it. Write us.

New Red Salmon has arrived at last, 26c a can to you while it lasts. Pink Salmon, too, if you wish it—18c per can—will you beat it? Seeded Raisins, two for a quarter. Sweet Potatoes, too, the best you find—Hubbard Squash and Onions, Cabbage, too, Blood Red Beets and Turnips fine, fill your cellar and live in clover, you'll thank DRAKE and think he's Hoover. Washington Crisps is a substitute for flour, three for a quarter any hour. Each package contains a Mother Goose toy which will delight your own child if you have one, if not your niece or a little child whom you love in your neighborhood.
